WHERE SPORT MEETS NATURE

PLAY 54, a target golf courses segmentation which fulfills all your need: family atmosphere, feeling of pure nature, sporty competitions on a european challenge course and among IAGTO awards Nomination of Golf della Montecchia as the the fourth most valuable golf in the world.

This course offers 27 holes and was designed by architect Tom Macaulay. It was built on the old estate belonging to Ermo Capodilista, it is part of the "Leading Golf Courses in Europe" and is frequented by a large international clientele. It has challenging technical characteristics, the course has twice hosted the Alps Tour and three times the Challenge Tour. The facility is equipped with a large driving range with 20 covered stalls with lighting, a pro shop, swimming pool, solarium, sauna, two restaurants (one Michelin star) and a snack bar. The large clubhouse, with numerous lounges for the organization of conferences, corporate events and banquets, was converted from an old tobacco-drying mind, which one sees all over the course. It has been visited by technicians from all over the world, and Bermudagrass turf has been installed because of its special characteristics. This contributed to the club obtaining the prestigious environmental certification "GEO".
